About Appel Farm

Appel Farm was founded in 1960 as a private summer arts camp for children. Albert and Clare Appel, both professional musicians and music educators, believed that the arts play a crucial role in developing a child's learning skills, encouraging personal growth, and instilling a sense of community and responsibility.

Since then, Appel Farm has evolved into a unique educational arts center serving audiences, artists and students who participate in a variety of artistic programs.

Appel Farm's mission is to provide people of all ages, cultures, and economic backgrounds with a supportive, cooperative environment in which to explore the fine and performing arts. We believe that the arts are an exciting and essential part of the learning process and that artistic talent is innate and waiting to be developed in every person. Everything we do at Appel Farm is about one thing:

*Transforming lives
through the arts*

These programs are made possible in part by funds from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/ Department of State, a Partner Agency of the National Endowment for the Arts. Supported in part by a grant from the New Jersey Department of State, Division of Travel and Tourism. Additional funding sources include corporations, foundations and individual contributions by friends, Trustees and alumni of Appel Farm.

Dear Educator,

Thank you for your interest in Creative Connections, Appel Farm Art & Music Center's program for schools and youth. Creative Connections seeks to transform teaching and learning through the arts. Our goal is to make the arts accessible and meaningful for all students.

Workshops are a wonderful way for students to pursue understanding of a particular art form. Our programs are available during the school day, after school, and during the summer. Programs are designed to take place at your school. However, during the academic year arrangements can be made for you to visit Appel Farm and have a program at our beautiful, professional arts studios, theatre or dance studios, turning your workshop into a memorable field trip.

Process, product, history, artistic expression and fun are all essential elements of Creative Connections. All of our programs are taught by highly qualified, professional teaching artists and are aligned with the New Jersey Core Curriculum Content Standards in the Visual and Performing Arts, and other content areas when applicable. At Appel Farm, we believe that all people have innate artistic ability waiting to be discovered and cultivated. It is our mission to provide people of all ages, cultures and economic backgrounds with a supportive, cooperative, environment in which to explore the fine and performing arts. We are transforming lives through the arts!

Research shows that students with an education rich in the arts have higher GPAs and standardized test scores, lower drop-out rates, and even better attitudes about community service*. Booking a workshop with Appel Farm is an easy and fun way to provide your students with high-quality arts education opportunities. If you are interested in booking a workshop or a series of workshops, we will work with you to craft a program that meets your needs, the needs of your students, and that falls within your budget.

Our goals are your goals! Please contact us to book a workshop, for information about customized programs and rates, or if you have any questions. We look forward to working with you to customize your Creative Connections experience!

PAPER ART

Origami Books

A great introduction to the art of origami in which participants will learn several age appropriate origami exercises to make beautiful paper sculptures. Participants will construct a book to contain their sculptures and will write a narrative connecting the models from each page of their book.

Goals: Participants will gain an appreciation for traditional origami practices, learn about patience through careful art-folding techniques and work towards expanding and exploring their personal narratives.

Objectives: Participants will create projects and construct a book using origami techniques.

Standards

NJCCCS:

1.3.5.D.1: Work individually and collaboratively to create two- and three-dimensional works of art that make cohesive visual statements and that employ the elements of art and principles of design.

Creative Card Making Techniques

Participants will enjoy making a variety of unique cards for all occasions. Participants will learn about various card-making techniques including paper texturing and coloring and feel very comfortable using a variety of secondary, enhancement techniques. Participants will also be engaged in traditional artistic studies and practices including found-object-incorporation, color theory, mixed media techniques and more.

Goals: Participants will learn new skills that will open creative possibilities that they can use and make their own.

Objectives: Participants will learn about colors, artistic practices, different media styles, and more. Each participant will complete at least one personalized, artistic card.

The elements of art and principles of design can be applied in an infinite number of ways to express personal responses to creative problems.

CERAMICS & MOSAICS

My House, My Number

This workshop will introduce students to the basics of design. Participants will create an “artsy” plaque with their house number using a tile making technique that resembles a mosaic.

Goals: Participants will learn about a variety of design, aesthetic, and construction theories based on clay and tile mosaics.

Objectives: Participants will work individually to create at least one plaque.

Contextual clues to culturally specific thematic content, symbolism, compositional approach, and stylistic nuance are prevalent in works of art throughout the ages.

DRAWING, PAINTING, & PRINTMAKING

Portraits

In this workshop participants will be introduced to drawing the human face. We will take a look at famous portrait artists like Picasso, Andy Warhol, and Beauford Delaney. We will examine proportion, shape and line, and other artistic aspects while we examine the human face. *Recommended for 5th grade and up.

Goals: Participants will gain an understanding of the various ways other artists have approached the human figure. They will also use abstraction and color in their portraits.

Objectives: Participants will understand the proportions of the human face as they all work towards finishing at least one self-portrait.

Richard W. Riley

Former US Secretary of Education

“I believe arts education in music, theater, dance, and the visual arts is one of the most creative ways we have to find the gold that is buried just beneath the surface. They (children) have an enthusiasm for life a spark of creativity, and vivid imaginations that need training – training that prepares them to become confident young men and women.”

Cartoon Mayhem

Let your imagination take off in this class built for Mayhem! Participants will receive introductory training into the world of cartooning. Through a series of creative exercises participants will be able to unlock their creative abilities and start drawing straight from their imagination. By combining traditional artistic drawing practices mixed with 21st Century Learning Skills, everyone will be swept up into the mayhem!

Goals: Participants will learn about the history of cartoons and complete exercises designed to help generate creative ideas. Participants will learn to trust themselves and not to judge their creative abilities while in the process of drawing and creating.

Objectives: Participants will learn about traditional drawing practices. Participants will learn about basic compositional practices for the purposes of sketching and drawing characters and creatures they create. Participants will learn about newer practices that are designed to help stimulate creativity through games, conversation, and other artistic means

Acrylic Expressions

Participants will develop a grasp of acrylic painting fundamentals and become more comfortable using this medium. Participants will work on an acrylic painting through step-by-step instruction. Possible subjects that can be covered include: floral, landscape/seascape, still life, abstract or action painting. Basic composition, perspective, color blending and selection, brush strokes, shading and texture will be discussed. The use of different brushes and a pallet knife will also be covered. *Recommended for 5th grade and up.

Goals: Participants will gain a deeper appreciation for painting as well as the various tools associated with painting.

Objectives: Participants will learn about color theory, mixing practices and proper application techniques. Participants will construct one acrylic painting. Participants will study the various histories and practices for constructing a painting based on the selected topic.

MUSIC

World of Percussion

Participants will be exposed to a variety of world instruments and rhythms to explore how our bodies, minds, and voices respond. In each session, we will hear and play traditional grooves from Egypt, the Middle East, Africa, and Latin Cultures. Through this exploration we will discover how anyone can play in various rhythms, tempos, and dynamics and how these terrific beats can connect you to yourself.

Goals: This workshop will encourage participants to react to sound at an instinctive level. The goal is to hear the music and allow oneself to be moved both emotionally and physically. By exploring in this way, participants will view music in a way that promotes awareness and cultural sensitivity.

Objectives: Participants will be able to hear the difference between various world rhythms, engage in hands-on demonstrations of various percussion instruments, and work as a group to create a symphony of sound.

THEATRE

Improving with Improv

This fast-paced and fun workshop will introduce participants to the basics of short-form improvisation. Participants will engage in a variety of think-on-your-feet games that range from whole group to small groups to individual. No experience is necessary for this workshop but a willingness to try is essential. "Recommended for 3rd grade and up.

Goals: This workshop will encourage spontaneity and help participants gain new perspectives on their daily lives. By sparking creativity this workshop will promote healthy risk-taking and teamwork.

Objectives: Participants will engage in multiple short-form improvisational games and activities and effectively collaborate with others to achieve an objective. Participants will be able to list at least three specific ways in which improv can improve their life and work.

Standards

A Work in Process

Who says you have to start with writing to create a play? This program unlocks the creative potential of all participants through a series of research-based methods of devising for theatre performance. Participants will actively engage in games and exercises that encourage them to create, shape and eventually script a theatre performance. Though the product is the goal, it is exploration and the creative process that takes center stage.

*Recommended for 3rd grade and up.

Goals: This residency will promote collaboration in a nurturing environment and enhance effective communication.

Participants will build confidence, creatively over-come obstacles and problem solve. This residency will help spark creativity, encourage pride and ownership in ones work, embrace ambiguity and ask insightful questions.

Objectives: Participants will engage in a series of theatrical and writing exercises as they work together to create a piece of theatre.

The New Jersey Core Curriculum Content Standards encourages all school districts across the state to set high standards for all students. We are working diligently to raise our performance standards... Our neighbor, The Appel Farm Arts and Music Center offers our school district a variety of language arts, as well as visual and performing arts opportunities that our school district could not provide. These programs support our curriculum while ensuring the implementation of the Core Curriculum Standards. Appel Farm has been instrumental in developing and enriching our educational environment. We are extremely fortunate to have Appel Farm as our partner in education.

Intro to Theatre

All the world's a stage! Through a series of active and engaging sessions participants will be introduced to many aspects of theatre, including: auditions, stage make-up, theatrical design (costume & set), improvisation, creative movement and dance, mask and vocal work, playwriting and devising, and acting.

Goals: This residency will help participants foster an appreciation of theatre. Participants will build confidence and take pride and ownership in their work. Participants will create a collaborative, nurturing environment where they will gain new insights and awaken possibilities, spark creativity, enhance communication skills and be provided with tools for problem solving.

Objectives: This residency provides participants with a thorough introduction to all things theatre. They will gain insight into theatre history, performance, theatrical styles, technical theatre, design, and playwriting.

Standards

NJCCCS:

Visual and Performing Arts Standard 1.3 Performance

1.3.2.C.3: Develop awareness of vocal range, personal space, and character-specific vocal and creative movement choices.

DANCE & MOVEMENT

Dance Improvisation

Dance Improvisation introduces dance vocabulary within the structure of creative play and practice. Participants will explore dance improvisational elements with open lab time for personal and collective composition time. Themes will be explored and participants will create mini dance studies that will be shared during the workshop. Strategies for discussing, writing about, and giving critical feedback will be presented. Crafting will happen for both the individual and the collective.

Goals: Participants will learn more about how they create, voice, and respond to movement. Participants will investigate ways to communicate through movement, sound, imagery, and writing. The open lab (with a clear focus and understood directives) will give safe space for creative play and practice.

Objectives: Participants will create a solo dance work with elements that will become part of the collective's improvisation. Participants will practice creating, presenting, performing, and facilitating critical feedback.

Standards

NJCCCS:

Visual and Performing Arts Standard 1.1 The Creative Process

1.1.2.A.2: Use improvisation to discover new movement to fulfill the intent of the choreography.

1.1.5.A.2: Analyze the use of improvisation that fulfills the intent of and develops choreography in both its form and structure.

Moving Stories

Moving and writing creatively are mighty creative partners. Participants will craft movement to amplify the words created and vice versa. Building blocks of vocabulary, phrase work, and composition (both for dance and for text) will be presented simultaneously. The participants will draft words and movement, sharing these vignettes in various forms. Performance and presentation will be practiced as well as critical feedback exchange.

Goals: Participants will find new connections between writing, speaking, listening, interpreting, and dancing. Participants will gain more confidence in sharing their own work. Participants will be encouraged to take creative ownership over choices inside the process and to take risks.

Objectives: Participants will learn and apply movement/writing vocabulary that is practically linked (ex. verb, sentence, exclamation). Participants will translate their creative writings into movement and will have a chance to share. Participants will build a collective “moving story” based on the entire group’s shared material.

Standards

NJCCCS:

Visual and Performing Arts Standard 1.4 Aesthetic Responses & Critique Methodologies

1.4.2.A.3: Use imagination to create a story based on an arts experience that communicated an emotion or feeling, and tell the story through each of the four arts disciplines (dance, music, theatre, and visual art).

1.4.5.A.3: Demonstrate how art communicates ideas about personal and social values and is inspired by an individual’s imagination and frame of reference (e.g., personal, social, political, historical context).

CREATIVE WRITING

Ode to Everyday

Odes and appreciation poems have been praising people, places, events, things, and ideas for millennia. During this residency students will learn a brief history of ode and appreciation poems from European and West African societies. Students will play interactive games to generate ideas, will write and revise their own poems, and then, in the oral tradition of the Grecian ode poets, they will rehearse and perform their poems.

Goals: Participants will experience how writers glean inspiration from the world around them, while engaging in a full range of literary practices from listening and reading to writing, editing and public speaking.

Objectives: Participants will learn about specific elements of poetry and construct an ode or admiration poem from inspiration in their own lives. Then blending, literary storytelling and theatre arts, they will rehearse and perform their pieces.

Standards

Common Core Anchor Standards:

CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.CCRA.W.5

Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach.

Memory's Lane

In this residency, participants use music, sensory objects, and visualization to plumb the depths of their memories for significant moments. Participants will then write about those potentially life-changing moments in a safe and caring environment. Participants will practice writing with originality, vigor, and meaning. Participants will learn about a process for responding to one another's work with caring and constructive feedback.

Goals: Participants will explore the significant turning-points and moments in their lives, building empathy for one's self and others while embracing and celebrating differences in experiences and attitudes. This residency will build excitement about reading, thinking and writing alone and in a group.

Objectives: Participants will learn skills for reading and understanding short memoir pieces. Participants will use memoir writing tools such as sensory description, use of time and pacing, character development, tone, and point of view.

Standards

Common Core Anchor Standards:

CCSS.ELA-LITERACY.CCRA.W.3

Write narratives to develop real or imagined experiences or events using effective technique, well-chosen details and well-structured event sequences.

Specialty Memoirs

We live in a world replete with things, from the items that fill our backpacks and purses to the products on our pantry shelves and in our medicine chests. In this workshop, participants will use poetry and creative non-fiction to explore this world of objects: how do our possessions shape us; how do they divide and unite people; what would these objects say if they had a voice? *Recommended for 4th grade and up.

Goals: Participants will think deeply and surprisingly about the role of objects in our lives and examine the ordinary and everyday in a fresh light. Participants will expand their imagination and delight in the possibilities of poetry. A sense of community will be created in the group.

Objectives: Participants will learn skills for reading and understanding poetry and short memoir. Participants will practice elements of craft including use of sensory detail, figurative language and point of view in writing poems and short memoir pieces. Participants will learn ways of responding to one's own and others' work with kind and constructive feedback.
